

ADM Advantage<sup>SM</sup> Expert Contract

Put a portion of your grain marketing in the hands of the experts.

Background

Grain marketing is just one part of the important work you do, but it requires constant attention. That's why ADM offers you the ADM Advantage Expert contract—a contract that puts your grain marketing in the hands of independent marketing experts. Our experts have a proven marketing track record, giving peace of mind and allowing you to spend your valuable time on other important tasks. You choose the expert, you set the basis, we handle the rest.

The Benefits

- With grain marketing experts working on your behalf, you have the freedom to focus on other things.
- Automatic execution minimizes stress and worry.
- You still maintain control to set the basis.
- It's a powerful diversification tool for your grain marketing portfolio.

How It Works

1. You choose the crop you want to sell, your delivery period and the marketing expert you'd like to make the pricing decisions.
2. Your chosen marketing expert advises ADM to price futures on your behalf. ADM establishes the final Futures Reference Price on your contract based solely on their pricing decisions.
3. You set the basis at any point prior to grain delivery.
4. Your final cash price is equal to the ADM Advantage Expert Futures Reference Price +/- Basis - Service Fee.

Performance

Compare how ADM Advantage Experts have performed relative to the harvest price and overall market opportunity. While there are no guarantees in grain marketing, we believe that ADM Advantage Expert will be a valuable addition to your overall grain marketing plan. See your local ADM representative for detailed historic performance results.

In order to see maximum results from the ADM Advantage Expert Contract, we encourage you to participate consistently on an annual basis, enrolling the same percentage of production from year to year.
